

37 trends reshaping the future of HR

HR must learn new skills in order to make a better future.

Megatrends are reshaping who future talents will be and from where and how they will work, transforming HR's role, responsibilities and tasks.

Copenhagen Institute for Futures Studies has conducted several global research initiatives to identify and qualify the strategic choices and challenges facing HR. This research identified 37 future trends with significant strategic importance for HR leaders.

Did you know that technology is continuing to blur the lines between work and private lives, leading to the emergence of corporate interventions into employees' daily lives through monitoring stress levels, quality of sleep and production cycles? This requires new strategic choices from HR.

Join us in a visionary seminar to develop actionable insights that will position your organization for the future through a forward looking and proactive HR.

The course will give you:

- Solid insights into “37 future of work trends” and how they will impact your organization
- Ideas and cases for how to adapt, position and innovate your organization accordingly
- Inspiration to qualify and prioritize your current HR strategy
- The opportunity to co-create a HR trend map for your organization
- Opportunities to network and exchanging experiences and ideas with HR strategy leaders from other organizations
- Course participation certificate

Dates: April 13 or June 15 2018, 10:00 am - 4.00 pm

Venue: Copenhagen Institute for Futures Studies, Amaliegade 5C, 2. 1256 København K.

Price: 7.995 DK (15% discount for members, 10% for participants from the same organization)

Led by: Thomas Geuken – Author, futurist, psychologist, strategic advisor (CIFS)

Materials: Pre-read “37 reshaping the future of HR” + HR trend map

Sign up here: <http://cifs.dk/consulting/courses/>